WHY A NATIONAL F. F. A. WEEK

by

Sam Davidson, President,
Appomattox F. F. A. Chapter

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, has estimated that 130,000 NEW farmers are needed each year to maintain the present high level of agricultural production in the United States. A large percentage of the persons who enter the farming business have not had the technical training in agriculture that they should have to become successful farmers. It is the successful, well-established farmer who contributes most to our agricultural production and who takes proper steps to conserve and improve the soil so that generations following him will have a foundation for continuing the production that is an essential factor in maintaining the present American standard of living and raising the standard to even higher levels.

Vocational agricultural education in the nation's rural high schools and the Future Farmers of America organization are contributing substantially to the education of farm boys in the skills that will enable them to become successfully established in farming, and provides participating experiences to help develop to the fullest extent the boys' abilities in rural leadership and in American citizenship.

It is fitting and essential that recognition should be given to these young farmers as they prepare for a future in their chosen occupation. Encouragement in their work at this point in their training will do much to stimulate them to harder study and greater achievement.

National FFA Week is scheduled to focus attention on the work of this group of Future Farmers of America, who will be the successful farmers of tomorrow.

Maxton Talks To Dark-fired Leaf Growers

A "grow as you consume basis" for dark tobacco was suggested last Thursday night at a meeting of tobacco growers for the solution of allotment problems. The meeting was sponsored by the Farm Bureau for this county. The growers went on record as recommending refusal of a belt 900 acre allotment on air-cured tobacco if this acreage was to be taken out of dark-fired acreage allotments.

Clarence Moore is president of the Appomattox Farm Bureau and R. B. Hudgins is program chairman.

Dr. J. E. Maxton, Extension Agricultural Economist, addressed the gathering, and said, in part:

"When the fire-cured production of type 21 tobacco was figured based on the present law, it was found that 10.6 million pounds will be needed in 1951 to equal the reserve supply level. When the same formula is used for types 22-24, a production of 12.0 million pounds is needed for those types. These totals are obtained by using the formula in the Act based on the situation in 1934-38. If the manner of determining the reserve supply level was right in 1937-38 and there has been a trend change since, then the old manner of determination is assuredly wrong now. When adjustment is made for the trend change, there would be 12.2 million pounds of type 21 tobacco needed in 1951. Also when the same adjustment is made for types 22-24, a total of 20.2 million pounds is needed.

"It is contended that the formula should be flexible to the extent of reflecting the change in demand trend of domestic versus exports. The accumulations of supply were the result of improper calculations in the department unduly weighing domestic consumption in the period 1940-44 and then maintaining the same inflexible formula from 1945-49 when exports attained increased importance. As a solution, it is recommended that production in the new year be based on consumption in the previous year so as to put the entire program on a grow as you consume basis."

Says No Blue Mold In Plant Bed Covers

There is no need to discard old tobacco plant-bed clothes because of blue mold. The disease is not associated with the re-use of old seed-bed covers, U. S. Department of Agriculture pathologists state.

R. B. Bridgforth, chairman of the State Committee of the Production and Marketing Administration, released that statement this week in the interest of conserving tobacco cloth.

"Rumors are in circulation which associate the use of old plant-bed cloth with the occurence of blue mold," Bridgforth said. "Our pathologists have made studies and report that there is no relation between the disease and old cloth. Steps have been taken to quell these rumors so that the problem of a short supply of cotton will not be aggravated. We do not know how extensively the rumors have spread, but the information has now been made available to the Extension Service in order to prevent the destruction of cloth that can be made to do again this season. Since most growers try to get at least two years' use out of a tobacco bed cover, it should not be too difficult to dispel any idea of discarding a cloth because of a rumor that it might carry blue mold."

Suggestions on Securing Operator's License Renewal

Richmond, March 14.- Sixty per cent of the estimated one million licensed operators of motor vehicles in Virginia must apply to the Division of Motor Vehicles for the renewal of their operating privileges during this year, it was stated at the DMV headquarters this week.

Officials pointed out that for the first time since the enactment of the Virginia Operators and Chauffeurs License Act in 1932 all operators licenses are now expiring and will expire in the birth month of the licensee. The Division advises that all persons who have in their possession a Virginia operators license that they examine this license carefully for expiration date, as six out of every 10 licensees now valid will expire this year.

The licensee's birth month is the key to the expiration of his license and it would be advisable to apply to the Division for renewal not later than the first day of the licensee's birthday month. As an alternative, the licensee may apply sixty days before the expiration of his permit.

One official pointed out that there are several ways that the licensee can assist the Division in expediting the issuance of his license and avoid delay in getting the renewed license in his hands.

The important steps to remember are:

1. Check carefully the expiration date of your present operators license. Do not apply for renewal more than sixty days before expiration date. Remember your permit will expire the last day of your birth month.

2. Secure an application for renewal from Division of Motor Vehicles License Agents, License Examiners or by writing direct to the Division of Motor Vehicles, P. O Box 1298, Richmond, Virginia.

3. Make sure that your application is executed in every detail. Use BLACK INK before mailing. Be positive that your signature appears at the top of your application.

4. It is essential that your correct expiring operators license number appears in the space provided on your application. This is the large number, located in the upper right hand corner of your expiring permit.

5. Do not send your remittance in the form of cash, coin or stamps.

In this connection, Commissioner C. F. Joyner, Jr. pointed out that in view of the volume of work that must be handled by the Division, in connection with the renewal of more than six hundred thousand licenses during the year, the operation of the motoring public is highly essential. He also laid stress on the fact that operators licenses are renewed at the discretion of the Division and any applicant for such a license may be required to undergo and pass the regular operator's examination before a renewal of his permit is granted.

Sgt. Booker Home on Leave From The Korean Front

So far as is known, Master Sergeant Alec Booker is the first Appomattox soldier back from the Korean expedition. Sgt. Booker was granted leave to return for 30 days due to the extreme illness of his father, Mr. J. R. Booker. He was flown to California from Korea, and will report back in California March 27 and return to duty by ship.

Sgt. Booker has served in the Army ten years, and is now 32 years of age. He served in Italy and Sicily in World War II and has reenlisted twice since. He went to Japan in 1946 and was last home on leave in 1948.

Sgt. Booker went to Korea July 23, 1950, a few weeks after the outbreak of action. He has been stationed with an ordnance base depot in Pusan.

A story of build up of troops and equipment was told by the local soldier, to make possible the strong United Nations position to day in Korea. He declared that a major problem of any settlement in Korea would be the matter of the great numbers of prisoners of war, and the plight of Korean refugees. He spoke well of the fighting qualities of the UN allies and also of the South Koreans when properly equipped and trained.

County 4-H Clubs Have Record Of Work Done, Money Made

4-H CLUB WEEK

This week the eight 4-H Clubs of Appomattox County join with the 4,000 other club boys and girls in Virginia and others throughout the nation and the world in observance of National 4-H Club Week.

The theme for 1951 is "Working together for world understanding." This week in each 4-H Club a special program will be presented and new members received into the club. Exhibits of project work and posters have been on display at the Appomattox High School Library, Jenkins' Store in Appomattox, and in Pamplin.

A review of the 4-H activities for 1950 show that 234 girls and 114 boys were enrolled in 4-H Club work in Appomattox County. The following subjects were completed: 185 girls completed a project in "So you'd like to sew," a project for beginners in which 740 articles were made. 28 girls undertook to "make and remake" clothing. These girls made 42 new garments and remodeled 23 garments. 12 of these girls entered the Dress Revue Contests at Farmville fair and the Lynchburg Farm Show.

One hundred and twenty-five girls took as a project, "Good grooming," and were very enthusiastic about the improvements made.

In foods, 71 girls reported canning 2,136 meals; 125 girls did food preservation work, canning 1,360 quarts of food alone, helped to can an additional 12,469 quarts, and prepared 587 quarts for freezing. 25 girls had gardening for a project and showed a value of $1,587.08,with a profit of $1,418.08. $51.00 was won in prizes by six girls who made exhibits from their gardens.

Fifteen girls were enrolled in laundry projects. Mildred Mann won state and national awards in this project. She won a trip to the National Club Congress in Chicago and a $300 scholarship.

In February, 1951, eight 4 - H Club girls from Appomattox clubs entered area contests as follows:

Canning: Gaynelle Irby; Clothing Achievement, Joyce McCormick; Dairy Foods, Patricia Alvis; Dairy Foods team: Virginia Herndon and Ann Thomas; Frozen Foods, Mary Ellen Moore; Poultry Consumption team: Mazie Harvey and Merle Reynolds. All eight of these girls were blue ribbon award winners in the area. These girls competed with girls from two other areas in the state

Secondary Roads Get Allocation

The State Highway Commission this week announced that state highway funds in the amount of $129,397 have been allocated for maintenance and improvements on Appomattox County's secondary roads during the fiscal year which begins on July 1.

Federal secondary construction funds and special state matching funds totaling $34,278 will also become available during the fiscal year. This amount is over and above the county's regular allocation.

State highway officials pointed out that the allocations are based on an estimated highway revenues for the 1951-52 fiscal term. The county's allocation can be expended only as it becomes available over the 12-month period.

Throughout the state, a total of $18,350,495 in regular state highway funds was allocated for the 51,189-mile secondary system. State and federal matching funds for special government-appoved construction projects totaled $4,419,506.

The allocation to each of the 97 counties whose roads are in the state secondary system was determined by a four-factor formula which considered each county's secondary mileage, rural population, rural area, and vehicle miles of travel on the secondary roads.

Secondary roads are mostly farm-to-market, school bus, RFD and connecting routes identified by route numbers ranging from 600 upward in each county. During the current fiscal year, allocations for the maintenance and improvements of these roads total $21,000,000.

The regular state funds will be budgeted in each county to include as many improvements as possible during the fiscal year. Each county's budget is made final only with the approval of the county's supervisors, giving local authorities a voice in determining which improvements shall be carried out during the fiscal year.

Supervisors Working on New Budget

A special meeting of the county board of supervisors will be held on Friday night to take action on a tentative school budget for the next fiscal year. The supervisors met in regular monthly session and went over the non-school budget proposals. When tentatively agreed the proposed budget will be published and acted on in April after hearings are held.

Assessment of natural gas pipeline installations in the county will result in some increase in tax income for the next fiscal year. However, a population deacrease will lower the county's share of ABC income. The working out of a salary schedule for school teachers is a major problem in preparing the school budget. Bringing all teachers up to required minimums levels eliminated established scales for seniority and certificate grades, and now the problem is how to finance a return to the differential scales. Those in the lower salary brackets have been given increases, while some in the upper brackets are "waiting in line."

Town Election Draws Interest Of Candidates

Time is growing short for candidates to file for the Town of Appomattox election. The election will be held June 5, and candidates must file by April 5. A mayor and six councilmen will be elected, for two year terms. Incumbents are:

Mayor: G. B. Buchanan; councilmen: Sam Jamerson, C. S. Jenkins, C. F. James, C. C. Dresser, J. C. Caldwell and C. T. Moser, Jr.

No announcements of candidacy have been made as yet, but it has been reported that J T. Irby will be a candidate for mayor. He is a former councilman.

1951 Auto Plates on Sale; Plates to Last 2 Years

Richmond, March 14.- Coincident with the beginning tomorrow of the annual period for registering their automobile for the 1951 license year Virginia motorists are advised by the Division of Motor Vehicles to take good care of their bright, new 1951 plates during the next twelve months.

The reason—they may only get a tab to validate their plates during 1952 if plans now contemplated go into effect; which Commissioner C. F. Joyner, Jr., said today would effect a saving of 700 tons of steel, and conform to the drastic economy which is being urged in connection with the defense program.

The Commissioner pointed out that this tab-validating system was in effect in Virginia for one license year during World War II, and today is being employed by several states in their licensing operations for 1951 registrations. In addition to advising motorists to take care of their 1951 plates, Mr. Joyner also called attention to the fact that they would have to save their 1951 registration cards in order to obtain the 1952 tags.

Just a little extra care of their 1951 plates, the proper method of affixing them to the vehicle so that they will sustain only the minimum of wear will be a splendid contribution by Virginia motorists to the economy of one basic material so urgently needed in these critical days of preparedness which the nation faces, the Commissioner commented.

Mr. J. D. Millner

Mr. Jeremiah Dishman Millner, a retired farmer died at his home near here Tuesday night. Born in Bedford County August 4, 1871, he was the son of the late Albert W. and Nancy Coffey Millner. He had resided here the past 17 years.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. J. T. Webber, of Route 1, Lynchburg, and several neices and nephews. Funeral services will be held at 11 A. M. Friday from Liberty Baptist Church.
